

Summary of WAC 173-350-500 Activities October 2014 through January 2015
(notes by Tom Culhane)

During these 4 months team members participated in a series of email exchanges, first designed to develop a list of potential changes to WAC 173-350-500, then to evaluate and try to reach agreement regarding some of the more straight forward of those edits.

The process to develop a list of potential changes involved Tom Culhane initially sending out a list of potential changes that Ecology had accumulated up to that point in time, then inviting team members to share their ideas.

Once a list of potential changes was compiled, Tom edited a draft version of WAC 173-350-500 to reflect the fairly non-controversial changes. That draft was then shared with other team members, and, if questions or concerns remained regarding any one of those edits, that change was withdrawn from the draft at least for now.

At that point the team shifted to a conference call mode for evaluating the rest of the potential edits.
